MDADVANTAGE SPONSORS 35th NEW JERSEY SPORTS MEDICINE SEMINAR

Supports Continuing Education Initiatives

Lawrenceville, NJ, December 16, 2013—In accordance with its ongoing commitment to supporting healthcare in New Jersey, MDAdvantage Insurance Company of New Jersey recently sponsored the 35th New Jersey Sports Medicine Seminar, which was held at Morristown Medical Center on November 22, 2013.

The Sports Medicine Seminar was presented in conjunction with Atlantic Sports Health, American Physical Therapy Association of New Jersey, Athletic Trainers' Society of New Jersey and Seton Hall University Sports Medicine. The program featured a roundtable discussion on concussions, a shoulder symposium, and a discussion of hip disorders and the role of arthroscopic surgery.

MDAdvantage Chairman and CEO Patricia A. Costante provided a discussion on risk management in sports medicine. "MDAdvantage is honored to once again have the opportunity to sponsor this valuable program that supports the education of New Jersey's physicians, trainers and physical therapists, and ultimately benefits the health and well being of people living in New Jersey," stated Costante.

As a company committed to investing in the future of New Jersey's healthcare system, MDAdvantage has been an ongoing partner in supporting medical education.

"I am so grateful to MDAdvantage for continuing to support the advancement of sports medicine in New Jersey," stated Vincent McInerney, MD. "MDAdvantage is demonstrating their foresight in their understanding of the need for continued discussions on important topics such as concussion prevention and management. We commend them for their continued commitment to improving medical care in our state."
